

Paddle/Player staging solved!

Tired of paddle staging that consists of hokey boxes, boards, unsanitary stacking, or fence holes? Are you tired of player confusion regarding who is in next? Your club needs the patented Paddle Q® paddle staging/player organization system!

This patented American made product will organize your court play like no other, automating the “next player(s) in” staging process. The Paddle Q® doesn't just keep paddles from banging into each other, it keeps others from touching your paddle.

Paddles not included

There are no motors, electronics, or batteries to replace. The Paddle Q® is powered by gravity! Simply place your paddle in the available clip and wait for it to rotate to the next player in position. Once pulled, all paddles will rotate automatically, allowing you to mix up play by skipping clips. Use the white board to display designated courts or level of play. The integrated ball caddy conveniently stages balls so that you are immediately ready to head in.

Made in the USA from premium aircraft-grade aluminum, stainless steel, and a powder coated finish. The Paddle Q® has a lifetime warranty and is designed to sit in the weather year after year providing player organization whenever your courts are used.

Install a Paddle Q® for every court at your complex and permanently mount them or use hooks to remove or move to different locations.
